"Investing & Online Trading: Why Most Online Investors Go Broke Trying to Make a Profit, While the 'Smart Money' Appears to Do It So Easily"

Most people are attracted to the idea of being in control of their financial future, but confused about how to start investing in the stock or share market, while avoiding costly mistakes. The surprising facts are that very few online investors actually make money long term.

In July 2005 Sharetradingeducation.com will launch a new stock & share market newsletter - called the Investing Online Newsletter © (and later in the year the Online Trading Report ©) as valuable education for online investors from all walks of life - from complete novices to experienced investors & fund managers.

Author Jim Berg is a former broker, private trader and lecturer with over 20 years experience in the investment industry. He has appeared on CNBC Asia and Market Wrap and is a regular guest speaker at the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX), Sydney Futures Exchange (SFE), Australian Technical Analysts Association (ATAA) & Traders Expos in capital cities. The first edition of his book 'The Share Traders Handbook, Fundamental & Technical Analysis Combined' has literally been a sell-out success.

Using the tools and trading strategies from his workshops and seminars, Jim Berg won the 2002 Personal Investor Magazine Trading Competition.

Author Jim Berg says:

"We heard from several people who came out of investing & online trading seminars with some education but wondered what to do next? Others contacted us wondering where to begin or how to improve their current portfolio performance.

We realised many online investors are looking for on-going support to help lead them through the stock or share market minefield, dodge the pitfalls and actually profit long term. Hence we created the Investing Online Newsletter © as a very affordable weekly guidance, with easy to follow step-by-step investment strategies for everyone who is looking to invest in any of the stock or share markets around the world today."

Using both fundamental & technical analysis, the Investing Online Newsletter © will teach online investors how to find the strongest up trending stocks and shares to buy.

Then how to manage them with money & risk management; importantly when to sell; traders' & investors' real life experiences; & articles from other leading authors e.g. on psychology & self managed retirement funds.

The first weekly editions of the Investing Online Newsletter © will also show investors how to follow Jim Berg's lead as a mentor and draw up their own investment or trading plan.

This plan will form the basis under which equities will be selected and managed in their DFS Equities Portfolio that this newsletter will track and report on each week.

Four early bird specials have just been released this week as a 'win-win' to recognise and appreciate the inaugural members of the Investing Online Newsletter ©.

The aim of the new Investing Online Newsletter © is to help people from all walks of life develop into the best online investor or trader that they can become and to generate the returns from your investments that you deserve.
